Visa Sponsorship and Right to Work

Mae'r ddogfen hon hefyd ar gael yn Gymraeg / This document is also available in Welsh

Cardiff Met is a global university with an extensive network of international educational partners, offices, students and alumni around the world. Nestled in the diverse city of Cardiff, we take pride in fostering an inclusive work environment, serving not only our local communities in Wales, but also across the globe. We extend a warm invitation to prospective staff members from all countries and nationalities, and aim to provide a welcoming transition to living and working in the UK.

Visa Sponsorship and Right to Work

If you think you might need visa sponsorship to work in the UK, we recommend checking the Home Office's Skilled Worker visa requirements before applying. This will help you understand the eligibility criteria, including salary thresholds which vary by role. You can also use the UK Government's visa and immigration eligibility tool to explore your options.

Key things to know:

- The University may sponsor positions aligned with its UK VISA and Immigration \(UKVI\) Sponsorship, Endorsement and Financial Support Policy. Sponsorship is not guaranteed for positions that meet the criteria listed in this policy.
- Sponsorship eligibility depends on both the position and individual circumstances.
- Being invited to interview does not guarantee sponsorship. Please check eligibility requirements before you apply, or contact our recruitment team for assistance.
- All job offers are conditional on having, or obtaining the legal right to work in the UK and meeting UK Visas and Immigration (UKVI) requirements where sponsorship is applicable.
